CHURCH HISTORICAL SOCIETY

1880

A Scheme of Parish Boundaries

For the Various Churches and Chapels in the Diocese of Pennsylvania, with the Exception of those in the Convocation of Germantown.

No distinction is made between a church, chapel or mission station, but a parochial district is assigned alike to all, with the exception of chapels attached to public institutions which attempt no outside work, and of churches intended for certain classes of people, of which there is only one of the kind, as those for the French, Italians, Seamen, &c. In the case of the Colored churches, no division of the field between St. Thomas' and the Crucifixion has been attempted, because St. Thomas' is not now in its permanent locality.
